VOLUME X MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 2, 1943 NUMBER THIRTY-FIVE

WOODY HINTON

There are four things I have found in life that I absolutely hate and I am confronted with the creeps and burst out in goose-pimples the moment I see them. The first is a man who is so mean, I don't like even the pretty little girl who makes, I hate buttermilk. I have never tasted it in my life, but if I was told to drink a glass or jump from a two-hundred foot tower into the Ohio river, I would jump.

I hate infidels, and for ghost stories, I read Ingersoll, Scott Russell, and have nightmares. I hate tattoos marks on me, yet I am not afraid of them, but if a man would ever come to me with a tattoo needle I would be gone in no time flat. I like to read tattoo marks on people, and I know some very nice people that have tattoo marks on them. To me they just don't mean marks or pictures. I always wonder just what frame of mind the ones were in when they had them put on. It seems that it is coming back in now. I think I know why, and I don't care, but I can't resist asking a fellow why he had that done. You see so many with special numbers on their arms, and now one man happily married, with a picture of a girl named Lillian on his chest.

The one I hate most is the one who looks like a madman. He told me it was a girl he met in England during the war. I asked him if Lillian did not work in the hospital, and he told me that he was the only one who was not killed. He said he would be very happy if she would leave.

I know one fellow engaged, with a picture on his arm, and before the marriage can take place it has to be removed. So far he has had the scar about the size of a dollar bill, that resembles a burn. Just give me vanilla!

Hotels in Louisville are some what like human lives. The social standing varies. The Seelbach is getting a steam and sand blasted on the outside. The view is trying to clean it up again. The Watterson is one of the nicest hotels in town, yet I remember when it was not. The only one I can say about the Watterson is that for many months they have had a life size picture of Lytle Davidson on the lobby, and when you walked in you felt like you were going to walk right into his mouth. Rhodes K. Myers, who had headquarters there. Anyhow, Republicans are like the cows—they come up late in the evening.

Traffic Deaths Drop 31 Percent In Year

Traffic accidents resulted in 11,780 deaths in the United States during the first seven months of 1943, the National Safety Council reported this week.

The total represented a decrease of 42 percent from the toll recorded in the corresponding period of 1942, and a decline of 21 percent from the total for a similar time span in 1941.

Motor vehicle fatalities in July totaled 1,810, a drop of 45 percent below the figure for July 1941, and a reduction of 20 percent from numbers registered in July, 1942.

Farm Prices Highest In Twenty-Three Years

The index of farm prices has hit the highest peak in twenty-three years, the Agriculture Department reported this week.

During the month ended August 15, the index of prices received by farmers rose to 189 per cent on the base period (1909-14). This was a rise of five points above July and thirty points above a year ago.

Good quotations for chickens, eggs, cotton, seed, dairy products and grains accounted for the increase, in a large part.

City Water Supply Reported Critical

Morehead Mayor N. E. Kennard has issued a warning to citizens of this city to exercise strict conservation of water from the city's supply lines. Water at the dam, from which the city supply is pumped, is very low, and unless every possible drop is saved, Morehead will be without water in a very few days.

Only a hard rain will replenish the supply, and citizens are urged to refrain from washing cars, sprinkling lawns and gardens, and to make every effort to save the remaining small supply for drinking and sanitary purposes only.

He warned against becoming too optimistic at the first small shower reminding water users that only a HARD RAIN will put the water supply up to a safe level.

Lieut. Callendo Attends Chicago Meeting

Lieut. Emil Callendo, of the Morehead Naval Training School, was guest of honor and one of the speakers at the annual meeting in Chicago, last Sunday.

A War Bond Rally, held in conjunction with the meeting, netted over $1,000,000 in bond sales. A very large crowd was in attendance.

Lieut. Callendo returned to Morehead Tuesday.

May Wants Postwar Military Training Law

Chairman Andrew J. May of the House Military Affairs Committee announced this week he would press for immediate enactment of a universal postwar military training law designed to train 1,000,000 men a year for active military service.

It would be similar to the conscription laws in Europe before the war.

In addition to one year of compulsory military training for all youths between 17 and 21, May's bill will propose a one-month refresher course each year for returning conscripts.

"There must be no scuttling of battleships, airplane carriers or destroyers after this war," May said. "If the other nations want to do it, let them. We must never go in for that thing again."

"It's about time we woke up to the realization that we've got to carry a 'big stick' after the war if we're going to keep others in line who have a tendency to carry the stick over our heads," he said.

May is also working on a bill to be introduced in congress, as soon as it returns from the draft.

He described his postwar conscription bill as a "cheap method" of maintaining a secure peace after the armistice, of joggling up the future health of the Nation, and of teaching young men the post-high school age the value of discipline.

Ted L. Crosthwaite Gets Commission

Mrs. Stella Crosthwaite, of this city, has received an announcement of her son's commission as a cadet in the U. S. Army. Cadet Crosthwaite will graduate Monday, September 6, from the California Institute of Technology at the U. of Calif. in Los Angeles, and will receive his commission as a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army.

War Fund Drive Meeting Held In Lexington Tuesday

Rowan County Committee Attends Meeting

A meeting of the chairman and other county representatives of the Kentucky War and Campaign was held in Lexington at the Lafayette Hotel, at noon Tuesday, August 31. Dr. J. D. Falls, Chairman of Rowan County Committee, George Walker, Morehead Naval Training School, Mrs. Ethel Lee Ellington, Principal Morehead City Schools, and Mrs. J. D. Falls, Director local USO, attended the luncheon.

Dr. Frank L. McVey, State Chairman, presided, and Virgil Martin, head of the Special Service Division, National War Fund, New York City, was the guest speaker. Mr. Martin gave a very interesting and instructive address on the importance of the war fund drive, and urged the people to be active in supporting the campaign.

The campaign will begin in Kentucky on September 15, for the purpose of raising approximately $1,400,000 for the USO and other national relief agencies.

It was emphasized that there would be only two major campaigns this year—one for the Red Cross and the other covering all other agencies. People who have been given to separate agencies will be able to donate to this War Fund Campaign, and such agencies will receive their national quotas.

Dr. McVey summarized the purpose of the campaign as follows: "There must be no time when the concerted effort of our people was more definitely needed than now."

There are going into this campaign, and because, as our boys and girls are going to the front, we at home must fight with them for freedom and decency and humanity.

The Rowan County delegation came from the meeting imbued with the feeling that this County was going to do its part, and to secure the level of work desirable.

This year in Rowan Consolidated Schools special effort will be made to operate as usual. Plans have been made which point to one of the best years of work this year. Parents are urged to look to the advantage of their schools by seeing that their children attend regularly.

One reads and hears a great deal at this time of juvenile delinquency over the country, and this is due to the unrest and uncertainty of the times. The Consolidated Schools have been fortunate in that they have had a great many of these juvenile problems. This year special effort must be made by the parents, the teachers and school and juvenile authorities to cooperate that the welfare of our youth be safeguarded in every way possible.

While our sons are guarding the battle front, we must pledge our future to the youth of this County.

It is not too early to begin practicing fire prevention measures, although the greatest hazard period is several weeks away. Brush and debris fires should be carefully guarded and lighted only when there is no wind. Motorists should refrain from discarding lighted matches and burning tobacco along the roadside, where it may start fires in dry vegetation and spread into adjoining fields.—Use the ash tray in the car.—Hunters, campers and others seeking the outdoors should take every precaution to see that their carelessness in the handling of fire does not spread in a blaze which might spread over a wide area before being brought under control.

A majority of Kentucky's forest fires each year are caused by carelessness and destroy timber and growing trees which are important in the war program as well as for the dry period of October and November. Being careful on the part of the civilian population will be of great help.

McConnell stated that preparations are under way in South-eastern Kentucky for the coming season, which usually begins during the first of October and extends well into December. Crews of men will soon be hired to check communication lines and roads; work in look-out towers, and clean up fire hazards wherever they may be found. These same men will be ready at the first sign of fire to fight the forest fires which break out in October and November. Being careful on the part of the civilian population will be of great help.

Roscoe Hutchinson, Jr. Condition Improved

Roscoe Hutchinson, Jr., who suffered a severe head injury in a bicycle accident August 21, is reported much improved at the St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington.

Hospital authorities believe that he will be sufficiently recovered to leave this city in a few days.

Young Hutchinson was knocked unconscious when the front wheel of the bicycle he was riding buckled and threw him against the concrete curb in front of the Morehead postoffice. He remained unconscious for a number of days and a spinal operation was performed on August 24.

Rural Teachers To Meet Sept. 10th

The rural teachers of Rowan County will meet Friday morning, September 10, at 10:00 a. m., in the Morehead High School Gymnasium for the first business meeting since the beginning of the school year.

Four vacancies, which now exist in the official school system, are expected to be filled this week. Attendance is reported very good throughout the county, and Mrs. Mabel Alfrey, attendance officer, has been attending and supervising rural schools for the past two weeks.

Rowan Schools To Open Mon., Sept. 6

Enrollment Expected To Be Normal This Year

Consolidated Schools open September 6, 1943, at 8:30 a. m., at Morehead, Haldeman, Ellittsville and Paducah.

Education is the one gift that parents can give their children that cannot be taken away from them. This year when many schools will not open as usual over the county, due to lack of teachers and transportation facilities, the communities that have schools must cooperate to make up for any lack or hardship that the war has caused.

Parents should realize that now in every vocation or occupation, an education of at least high school level is necessary in order to secure the type of work desirable.

This year in Rowan Consolidated Schools special effort will be made to operate as usual. Plans have been made which point to one of the best years of work this year. Parents are urged to look to the advantage of their schools by seeing that their children attend regularly.

Ky. Board Lowers Requirements For School Teachers

High School Graduates OK'd For Grades; 2 Years College For Hi

Approval for lowering teaching standards to fill war vacancies and for a school luncheon program was given by the executive committee of the State Board of Education at a meeting in Frankfort this week.

The committee's action is subject to approval by the full board which meets here September 17, but State Superintendent of Public Instruction John W. Brooker said the board's indorsement was regarded as certain and that since nearly all public schools will be in operation next week that steps would be taken to carry out the plans at once.

To meet what George L. Evans, school board secretary and State school finance director, described as a shortage that is "still acute," the action of the county board of education authorized schools, upon approval of Superintendent Brooker, to employ teachers as follows:

For grade schools, "a person who has had previous experience or who is a high school graduate."

For high schools, "a person who has completed a minimum of ninety-six quarter hours (equivalent to two years) of standard college work and who has a minimum of eighteen quarter hours in the subject in which he is to teach."

The school lunch program which Evans explained makes it possible for all public schools to provide at least one good meal daily for pupils. Brooker said the executive committee's approval, signed an agreement with the Federal Food Administration under which the latter will make available up to $1,000,000 for the school year.

He announced that Gov. C. Johnson promised $1,500 a month for the remainder of his term to care for State administrative expenses.

Evans explained the $1,500 would be used to pay salary and travel of two home economists to supervise the lunches and to pay the salary of a director here to handle finances and salary of his stenographer.

Under the plan, Evans said, the Federal Government will pay 9 cents toward the cost of each lunch served, 6 cents for each smaller quantity and 2 cents for each where only milk is served. Evans explained the schools would be able to supply a lunch at not more than 20 cents each, and would be able to give free food to those financially unable to pay for it.

The members of the school board who compose its executive committee and who approve the school lunch program today are Lambert W. G. Hays, Superintendent, the Rev. W. G. Hays, Superintendent, and Superintendent Brooker.

Farmers To Play Big Part In Bond Drive

Asserting that "country banks are literally bursting with idle money," the Treasury said today farmers were expected to play a big part in the $15,000,000,000 Third War Bond loan which opens September 9.

Lloyd E. Partain, in charge of the campaign's agricultural division, the Treasury said, had indicated that at least 60 per cent of the nation's 6,000,000 farm homes will yield bonds for purchases.

"Farmers have the money and they are convinced of the wisdom of investing their surplus in Government securities," Partain declared, adding that "the task of the country war loan committee chairman should be easy."

The War Bond quota for farmers is $1,500,000,000.

Saying that agricultural income has increased and indebtedness has decreased "amazingly" since 1940, Partain cited these figures from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Farmers cash income is up from an estimated $9,100,000,000 in 1940 to more than $19,000,000,000 this year, while farm mortgages have declined from a high of $13,000,000,000 in 1923 to $7,800,000,000 in 1940 and are expected to drop to about $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 this year.

Arthur B. Rainey Here This Week

Collector of Internal Revenue, from Ashland, Kentucky, was in Morehead on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, helping individuals with their income tax returns.

Bill was a welcome visitor as he has many friends in Morehead. He said that he was glad to be in Morehead even for two days. He had been coming to Morehead for six years, and was first to introduce social security to the business firms in this city.

Bill Moore Named Campaign Manager

Bill Moore, of this city, was last week selected as Republican Campaign Manager for Rowan County for the coming election. Moore was picked at a meeting of the regular committee and anti-unionette women, called by County Chairman Joe McKinney for that purpose. The large group of Republicans present was addressed by Judge S. S. Willis, Republican nominee for Governor, and Fred Williams, Republican nominee for State Superintendent.

Mr. Moore is a well known young business man of this city who has been very active in young people's groups and church circles. He is a brother of Herbert V. Moore, Republican nominee for Representative from this district.

Program Planned For Discharged Service Men

W. H. Fraysure, state director of the War Manpower Commission, this week announced a new program for employment of discharged service men.

The program, Fraysure said, will be under the immediate supervision of Harry H. Jeffries, Veterans Employment Representative for Kentucky and Joseph R. Ware, Federal supervisor of the United States Employment Service.

Under the plan announced by the state manpower director, all discharged service men will be registered for employment prior to their discharge from the armed forces, by specially trained interviewers from the United States Employment Service offices who will be stationed at army camps and hospitals for that purpose.

Through the nation-wide clearance system of over 1,500 USES offices, efforts will be made to find employment in the state to which the discharged service man prefers to work.

Many of these returning service men who have been found unfit for military life will be able to fill important war production jobs, Fraysure said, and will materially increase the present depleted manpower pool.

The WMC, according to Fraysure, by setting up its work-discharge program for discharged veterans early, hopes to avoid a repetition of the situation which occurred at the end of the last war when the nation was totally unprepared to cope with the thousands of finding work for the thousands.

OUR BOY'S REPLY TO DUTY'S CALL

Our boy is home just one more night
Tomorrow he will join the fight
For freedom; home, and country too;
He'll fight for me—he'll fight for you.

Dear, precious, gay, fun-loving boy,
Your father's pride—your mother's joy,
We know that you'll meet every test;
We know you'll rank among the best.

You'll see no teardrop dim our eye
As you leave home to do or die
For you are brave and strong
And true.

And we just must as brave as you.

Tho' we may be torn up inside
Our hearts just fairly burst with pride
Both sons have heard our country's call
And stand prepared to give their all.

There'll be two stars upon our door:
Two stars that mean to us much more
Than our poor tongue can e'er explain
Till our two sons come home again.

I'll meet you at the station, Son
And watch while your first mile begins,
May God be with you all the way

And bring you safely home some day.

With head erect and shoulders straight,
Well watch, and pray and hope and wait
And stand behind our sailor sons
And keep on building Navy Guns.

by Joe Marsh

Charlie Jenkins writes me from down at camp:

"Dear Joe! Somethin' mighty swell happened to me on my last day's leave. I'm standin' on the corner, not knowin' anybody in town, when a stranger says 'hello, soldier—how'd you like a chicken dinner at home with me and the wife?'"

"Well, it turns out they were the kind of folks who couldn't do enough to help out soldiers. They'd invited two other fellows and just as soon as we're introduced the lady brings us a glass of beer before dinner."

"We had a fine dinner, talked till ten... Honest, Joe, I'll never forget their hospitality. Makes me feel good fighting for people like that."

"Thought you might like to hear what kind of fellows we got in this army of ours, and how they like to enjoy themselves when they get a chance to."

COAL -- Black Magic

In olden times black magic held an unsavory reputation. Coal, however, which may be truly termed the Black Magic of the modern world, and its varying uses, has redeemed this expression.

It seems a far cry from coal, to the soldier lying wounded on foreign soil, yet it is because of experiments with coal that this soldier has a greater chance of recovery.

UPSET STOMACHS
YIELD INCHES OF GAS AND BLOAT

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got ERB-HELP, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waist-line is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise Erb-Help to the sky."—This is an actual signed testimonial from a man living right here in Morehead.

ERB-HELP is the new formula containing medicinal juices from 12 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—Get Erb-Help. C. E. Bishop Drug Co.

covering. The sulfa drug that is poured into his wound is one of the by-products of coal. If he has pneumonia, the sulfapyridine which is administered may be traced in the final analysis back to coal.

To another generation coal meant fuel; today coal has a variety of uses with the possibility of further discoveries of its magic properties not yet exhausted. One fairly recent experiment with it resulted in the production of lucite, now in general demand on the market. This has proved important in the surgical and dental profession because of its optical property of carrying light around curves, explained by the fact that lucite, like quartz crystal, possesses the quality of internal reflection. Illuminated instruments are made from it, making available to the doctor or dentist a powerful sterile beam of light without heat or glare or danger of electrical shock. Lucite gives a light which is white and brilliant, because it partially filters out the infra-red rays; a white light because the plastic is a non-conductor of heat, and a shadowless light because the rays are concentrated at the exact point desired. Reflectors for highways are also made from lucite, as are jewelry frames and home decoration objects.

Another experiment with coal resulted in the production of nylon, defined chemically as "synthetic fibre-forming polymeric amides having a protein-like structure, derivable from coal, air and water or other substances, and characterized by extreme toughness and strength. It has the peculiar property of being capable of being formed into fibres and other various shapes, such as bristles and sheets."

Milady knows nylon best because it has given her—when procurable—durable hose. It has many war uses in addition, however, which fact accounts for the partial cessation of it for civilian articles. It has replaced Japanese silk thread in Federal currency and securities. It may be used as a replacement material for natural leather; and from nylon also may be made type castings, thus replacing type metals. Experiments with coal have produced plastics from which furniture, tools, dishes and many other daily household objects are manufactured. Among the by-products obtainable from coal by carbonization in the modern coke oven are paints, dyes, insecticides, solvents, gun powder, explosives, alcohol, denaturants, sugar substitutes, perfume, resins, embalming fluid, laxatives, varnishes, oil of wintergreen, medicines, baking powder, laughing gas, linoleums, automobile parts, photo-developers, food preservatives, radio parts, wall paper colors, moth balls, smelling salts and hundreds of other familiar things which one in no way associates with coal.

I talked with a Shattered Soldier.

I talked with a shattered soldier yesterday . . . a soldier whose broken body is here, but whose future may be buried in the muck and heat and stench of the Solomons.

It was hard to get him to talk about the war . . . about whether he thought we at home were doing our share.

He seemed hesitant about criticizing or complaining. "Well, I don't know," he said—and the smile left his face. He leaned forward in his chair, and nervously opening and clenching his hands, remarked:

"You know when you have been down on your knees wiping the blood off the face of a dying buddy . . . and holding his hand, trying to help him through it . . . you wonder why there would be anybody who wouldn't be giving every ounce of his energy, and wouldn't be buying every war bond he could, to get this mess over—and quickly."

I shall never forget this shattered soldier. He had already done far more than his share. He made me search my soul to see if I was doing all I could.

If you see a shattered soldier, perhaps you will say to yourself, "I have reason to be proud of that soldier . . . I wonder if he has reason to be proud of me."

He will be proud of you if you give all you can for the purchase of War Bonds to help his buddies, as he gave all he could for you.
